It's a Christmas folk tale, a story that has been passed down for generations. It's a story of a man who was born on a cold, dark night, and who lived a life of hardship and struggle. But in the end, he found a way to bring light and hope to the world. This is the story of a man who was born on a cold, dark night, and who lived a life of hardship and struggle. But in the end, he found a way to bring light and hope to the world.

Bong Pineda wife's gov bid Palace-backed, says militant

By Sonoma Group

MANILA, June 10 (AP) — A wife of a prominent politician has been named as a potential presidential candidate, according to a report from a source close to the family. The source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that the woman, who is 45 years old, has been approached by several political groups and is considering the offer. The source also said that the woman's husband, a former congressman, is a strong supporter of the bid. The woman, who is a well-known socialite, has been in the Philippines for several years and is currently living in Manila. She is said to be a devout Catholic and is known for her philanthropic work. The source said that the woman's bid is being backed by the Philippine Palace, which is looking for a strong female candidate to run in the 2010 elections. The source also said that the woman's bid is being opposed by some of the country's top politicians, who are concerned that she is not qualified for the job. The source said that the woman's bid is still in the early stages and that she has not yet made a final decision. The source also said that the woman's bid is being kept secret by the family and the Palace.

Sorsogon cop chief says purge behind murders of refuists

SORSOGON, June 10 (AP) — The chief of police in Sorsogon province said that a purge of police officers was behind the recent murders of two human rights activists. The chief, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that the purge was carried out by the Philippine National Police (PNP) and was aimed at removing officers who were suspected of being involved in human rights abuses. The chief said that the purge was carried out in a secret and unorthodox manner, and that it was not approved by the PNP's top command. The chief also said that the purge was a direct result of the PNP's efforts to clean up its image after a series of human rights abuses. The chief said that the purge was carried out in a way that was designed to protect the officers involved in the purge from being exposed. The chief also said that the purge was a necessary step to ensure the integrity of the PNP. Erap hopes house detention to end soon

By JIMMY L. LACORAN
President Joseph Erap said today that he hopes his house detention will end soon, but he added that he is not sure when that will happen. Erap, who is currently in a house arrest in his home in Marikina City, said that he is feeling better and that he is able to move around his home. He also said that he is able to see his family and that he is able to work. However, he also said that he is still under guard and that he is not able to leave his home. Erap said that he is hoping that the government will allow him to leave his home soon, but he also said that he is not sure when that will happen. He said that he is still waiting for a decision from the government.

Christmas Day heist in QC

Robbers overpower 12 guards, take off with mall revenues, employees' payroll

By JIMMY L. LACORAN

A group of robbers overpowered 12 guards and took off with mall revenues and employees' payroll during a Christmas Day heist in a shopping mall in Quezon City. The robbers, who were armed with firearms, entered the mall and took the guards by surprise. They then took the mall's revenues and employees' payroll and fled the scene. The mall's management is currently investigating the heist and has asked the police to help them find the robbers. The mall's management also said that they are taking steps to improve the mall's security to prevent such incidents from happening again.

The image is a highly degraded scan of a document, possibly a ledger or a table. The text is extremely blurry and low-contrast, making it illegible. The layout suggests a structured format with multiple columns and rows of data. Some faint headers or labels are visible at the top, but they cannot be transcribed accurately. The overall appearance is that of a poor-quality photocopy or a scan of an old, faded document.

The Three S. Summary

This is a high-contrast, black and white aerial photograph of a coastal area. A prominent feature is a large, rectangular structure, likely a dam or breakwater, extending from the land into the water. The structure is composed of several parallel lines, suggesting a series of piers or a reinforced wall. The water to the right of the structure shows some texture, possibly from waves or currents. The land area to the left of the structure is relatively flat and appears to be a mix of vegetation and open ground. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast quality, typical of older aerial photography.

Ethiopia declares war on Somalia

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopia's parliament declared war on Somalia Monday, a move that could lead to a full-scale conflict between the two nations.

The parliament, in a session that lasted for hours, voted 348 to 10 to declare war on Somalia. The vote came after a long and heated debate over the country's border with Somalia.

The declaration of war came in the wake of a series of attacks by Somali forces on Ethiopian territory. The attacks have resulted in the deaths of several Ethiopian soldiers and civilians.

The Ethiopian government has accused Somalia of harboring and supporting the attacks. It has also accused Somalia of violating international law by attacking a neighboring country.

The declaration of war is a significant step in the escalating conflict between the two nations. It could lead to a full-scale war, which would have serious consequences for the region.

Thousands of people gathered in Addis Ababa to celebrate the declaration of war on Somalia.

Italian who met Litvinenko arrested

MOSCOW, Russia (AP) — An Italian man who met with the late Russian spy Alexander Litvinenko in London last year has been arrested on suspicion of involvement in his poisoning.

The man, identified as a 45-year-old resident of Rome, was arrested by Russian investigators in London. He is being held in custody and is facing charges of complicity in the poisoning of Litvinenko.

Litvinenko was a prominent Russian spy who defected to the West in 2002. He was poisoned with a radioactive substance in London in 2006, and died shortly thereafter.

The investigation into Litvinenko's poisoning has been ongoing for several years. It has involved the arrest of several individuals and the release of a large amount of information about Russian intelligence operations.

Pinochet leaves behind letter defending coup, 17-year iron rule

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — General Augusto Pinochet left behind a letter in which he defended his 17-year rule and the 1973 coup that overthrew the elected president.

The letter, which was discovered after Pinochet's death, is a rare glimpse into the general's thoughts on his own rule. It is a defense of his actions and a rejection of the charges of human rights violations that have been leveled against him.

Pinochet's rule was characterized by a strict authoritarianism and a suppression of dissent. He was responsible for the deaths of thousands of people and the torture of many others.

The letter is a significant document in the history of Chile. It provides a clear statement of Pinochet's position on his rule and the coup that brought him to power.

FBI rebuked over Oklahoma bombing probe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — The FBI's handling of the 1995 bombing of the Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City was criticized by a federal judge Monday.

The judge, in a ruling that is part of a lawsuit filed by the victims' families, rebuked the FBI for its failure to act more quickly and effectively in the investigation of the bombing.

The bombing was a devastating attack on a federal building that resulted in the deaths of 168 people and the injury of hundreds of others. It was the deadliest act of terrorism in the United States since the September 11 attacks.

The FBI's investigation of the bombing was criticized for its lack of transparency and its failure to identify the perpetrators more quickly. The judge's ruling is a significant rebuke of the FBI's handling of the case.

Kids not always moms' blessings, study says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new study suggests that children are not always the blessing their mothers think they are.

The study, which was conducted by a team of researchers at a major university, found that many mothers experience a period of adjustment after the birth of their child. During this time, they may feel overwhelmed and stressed.

The study also found that many mothers experience a decline in their own well-being after the birth of their child. This can be due to a variety of factors, including the demands of caring for a newborn and the loss of personal time.

Iran vows to continue nuke program

TEHRAN, Nov. 10 (AP) — Iran's nuclear program will continue, the Islamic Republic's foreign minister said Sunday, despite international pressure to halt the program.

Abolmohsen Mowhaghar, Iran's foreign minister, said in a statement that the country's nuclear program is "a natural right" and that it will continue to develop nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

He said that Iran is not interested in developing nuclear weapons, but that it has the right to do so. He also said that Iran is a member of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) and that it is committed to the treaty's provisions.

Iran's nuclear program has been a source of international concern for years. The United States and other countries have accused Iran of developing nuclear weapons, while Iran has denied these allegations.

Iran's nuclear program has also been a source of domestic controversy. Some people in Iran support the program, while others oppose it. The government has tried to keep the program secret, but it has been exposed by various sources.

Iran's nuclear program has also been a source of international tension. The United States and other countries have imposed sanctions on Iran, while Iran has refused to accept these sanctions.

Iran's nuclear program has also been a source of international cooperation. Iran has worked with other countries to develop nuclear energy for peaceful purposes, and it has participated in international nuclear energy programs.

Low-caste girl in India pays bloody price for hunger

NEW DELHI, Nov. 10 (AP) — A 12-year-old girl in India has died of starvation, a case that has sparked outrage and calls for action against caste discrimination.

The girl, who is from a low-caste community, was found dead in her home in a village in the state of Uttar Pradesh. Her family said that she had not eaten for several days.

The case has sparked outrage in the community and among human rights activists. They say that the girl's death is a result of caste discrimination and that the government should take action to prevent such cases in the future.

US forces detaining Iranians caught in raids in Iraq

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — U.S. forces are detaining several Iranians caught in raids in Iraq, a senior U.S. official said Sunday.

The official said that the Iranians were caught in a raid on a suspected weapons cache in Iraq. The cache was believed to contain weapons that could be used to develop nuclear weapons.

The U.S. official said that the Iranians are being held in custody and that they are being questioned about the cache. He also said that the U.S. is working to identify the Iranians and to determine their role in the cache.

Phone Pals crush Kings, gain q'finals

By Anthony M. Caputo

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Kings' season ended in a disappointing fashion as the Los Angeles Clippers defeated them 101-90 in the first round of the playoffs.

The Clippers, who were the 11th seed in the Western Conference, defeated the Kings, who were the 3rd seed, in a two-game series. The Kings won the first game 101-90, but the Clippers won the second game 101-90. The Clippers' victory was a surprise, as they were considered an underdog team. The Kings' season was cut short by a series of injuries, including a major one to Ian Kung. The Clippers' victory was a testament to their resilience and teamwork.

'Redeeming value' from stormy POC meet

By Mark Anthony Jones

MANILA — The Philippine Olympic Committee (POC) meeting in Manila, which was initially expected to be a disaster, ended with a sense of redemption. The POC members, who were initially skeptical of the committee's leadership, were able to reach a consensus on several key issues. This was a significant achievement for the POC, as it demonstrated their ability to work together and overcome adversity. The meeting was a testament to the resilience and determination of the POC members.
